A due consideration will always be given to length of service, but the first and most important rule will be the qualifications of the men for the place. If our men have grievances the proper officers will be willing to grant hearings and see that consideration is given, but we will not allow outsiders to intervene or to interfere between the emtervene or to interfere between the em-ployer and employe. For this reason alone I refused to allow Mr. Holland to discuss any differences alleged to exist between the company and its men, and not for the reason, as stated, that we object to our employers being members of labor organizations.

"These are my views, and I am satis-

He hoped the men would obtain their rights.

Tariff Discussion.

It Will Predominate in the Senate This Week.

PROGRAM OF BUTH HOUSES.

The Senate Will Take Up the River and Harbor Bill on Friday-The Bouse Will Transact but Little Business on Account of the Grand Army Encampment in Beston-Other Washington News.

Washington, Aug. 11 .- Tariff discussion will predominate in the senate during this week until Friday when Mr. Frye, in accordance with the notice he gave last Thursday, will call up the river and harbor bill. There are several conference reports that may be submitted and break in on the tariff discussion almost any day; so the prospect for making much progress with the tariff bill this week is not very good.

The senate will start in to-day with about half the metal schedule finished and with thirty of the 180 pages of the bill out of the way. Mr Hoar's resolu-tion to hasten close of debate, offered Saturday and referred to the committee on rules, is likely to be considered in the caucus before the week ends.

Another scheme, that of holding night returned to Hotel Pemberton, where he sessions of the senate in order to hasten is stopping, Mr. O'Reilly accompanied final consideration of the tariff bill. is him. also talked of by some Republican sena-tors, but thus far has not found many enthusiastic supporters.

The grand reunion at Boston has disarranged the plans of the house committee on rules for this week. It was the intention of the committee on rules to set apart the week for the consideration of the compound lard bill, the bill to extend the act in regard to experiment stations at agricultural colleges and the meat inspection bill. So many of the Republican members will be absent in Boston that it is considered dangerous to call up those measures.

The probability is that the house will do very little work, some conference reports being the only matters that have a chance for consideration. The absence of Republicans will probably leave a Democratic majority in the house.

Saturday's Congress.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—In the senate Saturday Mr. Hoar offered a resolution, which was referred, intended to shorten debate on the tariff and other measures. The tariff debate was considered until a

p. m., when the senate adjourned.

In the house a joint resolution wa passed accepting from the G. A. R. a statue of Gen. Grant. The conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was considered, and the senate amendments non-concurred in, and the house adjourned.

Receipts of Their Lake Front Display I Chicago Largely Missing.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—An evening paper says: A very large proportion of the gate receipts at the lake front on Wednesday night was stolen by ome one who has not yet been captured. The officers of the Patriachs profess not to know who the culprit is. They talk in a vague way of the tickets sellers bethe men whom they intrusted with this important work. They only know that all the cash turned in as the proceeds of admission from at least 80,000 people

It is thought by many here that this money followed that which so mysteriously disappeared at the Odd Fellows' gathering in Cincinnati two years ago, when a Patriarch Mantant band from this place was very much disappointed to find themselves asked to do duty for nothing after a large amount had been collected from the merchants of that place to pay for their services. The court-martialing of an innocent man from this city has not been entirely forgotten, and this m ney disappearance here vividly recalls the rumor that there is a leak somewhere.

Enveloped in an icy Fog.

The little town of Ransom's Ford, lying six miles south of Paris, Illa., is much slarmed and puzzled over a natphenomenon which is being exhibited there. The Patriarchal Christ. followed this, during which there were there. a few bright shining lights such as Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, whose character we admire at the present time. The bringing of the Children of Israel out of Egypt and establishing them as a nation was the end of the Patriarchal and the beginning of the Mosaic age. The appearance dispensation, and was the beginning of Christian age. During His ministry His diciples came to him and asked him saying, "Tell us when shall these thing be and what shall be the sign of his coming and the end of the world?" that is the end of the Christian age. The Savior said to them: "Immediately after the tribulation of those days shall shall not give her light, and the stars shall not give her night, and the powers of the Heavens shall be shaken. Then shall appear the sign of the son of man in Heaven." Matt. 24: 29, 30. These signs were to take place just a little before the end of the age. The Lord pointed out difinitely when we might look for these signs. It was immediately after the tribulation of those days. The days of Papal persecution began in the year 538 A. D., and were to continue 1260 years, and ended in 1798. The tribulation of those days ended about the middle of the eighteenth century, or 1750, in consequence of the reformation being espoused by the German states and various European powers. Mark says, "In those days after that tribulation, shall the sun be darkened," etc. Mark 13:24. The sun was darkened on May 19, 1780. Webster says that it was an uncommon darkness, and that the true cause of this remarkable phenomenon is not known. The moon was darkened the following night. History states that had every luminous body been stricken out of existence the darkness of that night could not have been greater. Here were two of the signs. But God is merciful, desiring that none should perish but that all should have everlasting life, and consequently does not give all his signs to one class of people.

About fifty years later another sign appeared. On the night of Nov. 13, 1833, there was a most wonderful phenomenon known as the falling of the stars. One of the editors of the Des Moines Iowa State Register, speaking of this under date July 12, 1889, said:

the Fourth of July, claiming that the improved fireworks for the amusement of small and mature boys 'eclipse the glories of the greater meteoric showers.' The writer of that sentence did not witness the glorious meteoric shower of November, 1833. when the display was so much superior to any artistic display of fireworks that neither any artistic display of fireworks that netter language or any element in nature can furnish any comparisons. The awful grandeur of the display on the night of Nov. 13, 1883, made the stoutest hearts stand in awe, and the most defiant infidel quake with fear. It never can be compared to the most brilliant fireworks. Those who witnessed the meteoric shower named, saw witnessed the meteoric shower named, say he grandest display that ever man will se intil the day that Paul speaks of when The Heavens being on fire shall be dis-olved, and the elements shall melt with errent heat. The agricultural editor of the Register was out alone with a team and a load of lumber all night on that never-to-be-forgotten night. He cannot now con-sent to hear of human fireworks being susent to hear of human fireworks being en perior to that most grand and sublime spectacle ever before or since beheld by man. Immense meteors mingled together with smaller shooting stars, fell like snow flakes, and produced phosphorescent lines along their course. coming of the Saviour must be near. Everyone who loves the dear Saviour the character of the fruit borne torms the character of the individual, and determines his reward or punishment in the end.

The ancient patriarchs had the same passions and temptations as we, and yet, through Christ who strengthened yet, through Christ who strengthened them, they wrought great works. Connected with Christ we can do anything. To be joined to him by faith makes a man almost omnipotent. Without faith it is impossible to please tood. Faith connects us with the almighty, and gives a sum of the character of the individual, and determines his reward or punishment in the character of the individual, and determines his reward or punishment in the character of the individual, and determines his reward or punishment in prepared for his appearing. Rev. 20:4. During this time satan is to be bound on the earth. Some talk as if we had already entered upon this age, and that satan is now being bound. If he is bound now may God deliver us from the time when he is let loose. From the present condition of the world as witnessed by reports in the newspapers everywhere, we are inchined to believed otherwise. The revelator says: "Woe unto the inhabiters of the earth and sea, for the devil is come down unto you having great wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a short time." Rev. 12:12. IF A MAN EATS THEREOF HE WILL NEVER HUNGER.

Dr. Taimage Procedes a Magnificent Sermun of Comfort for the Weary-God Will Feed the Famishing if They Will

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 19 .- The great Brooklyn preacher who is stay ing here discourses this week on the gospel provision for ordinary and extraordinary needs. His text is Joshua v. 12: "And the manna ceased on the morrow after they had eaten of the old corn of the land."

Only those who have had something to do with the commissariat of an army know what a job it is to feed and clothe five or six hundred thousand men. Well, there is such a host as that marching across the desert. They are cut off from all army supplies. There are no rail trains bringing down food or blankets. Shall they all perish? No. The Lord comes from heaven to the rescue, and he touches the shoes and the coats which in a year or two would have been worn to rags and tatters, and they become storm proof and time proof, so that after forty years of wearing the coats and the shoes are as good as new. Besides that, every morning there is a shower of bread, not sour and so my, for the rising of that bread is made in heaven, and celestial fingers have mixed it and rolled it into halls, light, flaky and sweet, as though they were the crumbs thrown out from a heavenly banquet. Two batches of bread made every day in the upper mansion-one for those who sit at the table with the king, and the other for the marching Israelites in the wilder-I do not very much pity the Israelites for the fact that they had only manna to eat. It was, I suppose, the best food ever provided. I know that the ravens brought food to hungry Elijalı, but I should not so well have liked those black waiters. Ruther would I have the fare that came down every morning in buckets of dewclean, sweet, God provided edibles But now the Israelites have taken their last bit of it in their fingers, and put the last delicate morsel of it to their lips. They look out, and there is no Why this cessation of heavenly supply? It was because the Israel ites had arrived in Canaan, and they smelled the breath of the harvest fields the crowded barns of the country were thrown open to them. All the inhab itants hal fled, and in the name of the Lord of Hosts the Israelites took pre session of everything. Well, the thresh ing floor is cleared, the corn is scattered over it, the oven are brongit again and in lazy and perpetual circu t with a fan, and it is ground and it is baked, and lo! there is enough bread for all the worn out host. "And the manna ceased on the morrow after they had eaten of the old corn of the land.

From among the mummies of Egypt and Canaan have been brought grains of core exactly like our Indian corn. and recently planted; they have produced the same kind of corn with which we are familiar. So I am not sure which kind of grain my text refers to, but the meaning is all the same. The bisection of this subject leads me, first, to speak of especial relief for especial emergency; and, second, of the old corn of the gospel for ordinary cir-

If these Israelites crossing the wilderness had not received bread from the heavenly bakeries there would, first, have been a long line of dead children haif buried in the sand; then there in that army under 40 years of age would have been a long line of dead had never seen a cornfield, and not women waiting for the jackals; then when they hear the leaves rustling and there would have been a long line of see the tamels waving and the billows dead men unburied, because there would of green flowing over the plain as the have been no one to bury them. It would have been told in the history of the world that a great company of good people started out from Egypt to Canaan, and were never heard of, as thoroughly lost in the wilderness of sand as the City of Boston and the they burst open the granaries of the President were lost in the wilderness of waters. What use was it to them that there was plenty of corn in Canaan or plenty of corn in Egypt?

What they wanted was something to eat right there, where there was not so much as a grass blade. In other words, an especial supply for an especial emergency. That is what some of you want. The ordinary comfort the ordinary direction, the ordinary counsel. do not seem to meet your case. There are those who feel that they must have an omnipotent and immediate supply. and you shall have it.

"NO SUCH NURSE AS JESUS." is pain and physical distress through which you must go? Does not Josus know all about pain? Did he not suffer it in the most sensitive part of head and hand and foot! He has a mixture of comfort, one drop of which shall cure the worst paroxysm. It is the same grace that soothed Robert Hall when, after writhing on the carnet in physical tortures, he cried out. "Oh! i suffered terribly, but I didn't cry out while I was suffering, did I? Did I cry out?" There is no such nurse as Jesus -his hand the gentlest, his foot the lightest, his arm the strongest. For especial pang especial help.

Is it approaching sorrow? Is it long. shadowing bereavement that you know is coming, because the breath is short, and the voice is faint, and the cheek is pale? Have you been calculating your capacity or incapacity to endure widow hood or childlessness or a dishended their soul with a diet of mortgages encampment! Especial solace for especial distress. Or is it a trouble past, yet present-

A silent nursery! A vacant chair op posite you at the table? A musing upon a broken family circle never again loneliness? A blot of grief so large that die? Especial comfort for that especial trial Your appetite has failed for everything else. Oh, try a little of this wilderness manna: "I will never leave thee, I will never forsake thee." "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him." "Can a woman forget her sucking child, that she should not have compassion on the son of her womb? yes, they may forget, yet will I not forget "BOW LONG!"

Or is it the grief of a dissipated companion? There are those here who have it, so I am not speaking in the abstract, but to the point. You have not whispered it, perhaps, to your most intimate friend; but you see you-home going away gradually from you, and unless things change soon it will be entirely destroyed. Your grief was well depicted by a woman presiding at a woman's meeting in Ohio, when her intoxicated husband staggered up to the platform, to her overwhelming mortification and the disturbance of the audience, and she pulled a protruding bottle from her husband's pocket and held it up before the audience, and cried out, 'There is the cause of my woe! There are the tears and the life blood of a drunkard's wife!" And then, looking up to heaven, she said. "How long. O Lord! how long?' and then, looking down to the audience, cried, "Do you wonder I feel strongly on this subject? Bisters, will you help me?" And hundreds of voices responded, "Yes, yes. we will help you." You stand, some of you, in such a tragedy today. You cannot even ask him to stop drinking. It makes him cross, and he tells you to mind your own business. Is there any relief i such a case? Not such as is found in the rigmarole of comfort ordinarily given in such cases. But there is a relief that drops in manna from the throne of God. Oh, lift up your lacerated soul in prayer, and you will get omnipotent comfort! I do not know in what words the soothing influence may come, but I know that for especial grief there is especial deliverance. I give you two or three passages; try them on. Take that which best fits your soul: "Whom the Lord loveth ha chasteneth." "All things work togeth er for good to those who love God." "Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning." I know there are those who, when they try to comfort people, always bring the same stale sentiment about the usefulness of trial. Instead of bringing up a new plaster for a new wound, and fresh manna for fresh hunger, they rummage their haversack to find some crumb of old consolation, when from horizon to horizon the ground is white with the new fallen manua of God's help not five minutes old.

THE MANNA CEASED.

But after fourteen thousand six hundred consecutive days of falling manna Sundays excepted — the manna ceased. Some of them were glad of it. You know they had complained to their leader, and wondered that they had to eat manna instead of onions. Now the fare is changed. Those people wind touched them, it must have been a new and lively sensation. "Corn!" cried the old man as he opened an ear. "Corn!" cried the children as they counted the shining grains. "Corn!" shouted the vanguard of the host as affrighted population, the granaries that had been left in the possession of the victorious Israelites. Then the fire was kindled and the ears of corn were thrust into it, and, fresh and crisp and tender, were devoured of the hungry victors; and bread was prepared, and many things that can be made out of flour regaled the appetites that had been sharpened by the long march. "And the manna ceased on the morrow after they had eaten of the old com of the land."

Blessed be God, we stand in just such a field today, the luxuriant grain coming above the girdle, the air full of the odors of the rips old sorn of the Gospel Cansan. "Oh!" you say, "the fare is too plain." Then I remember you will soon get tired of a fanciful dist. While I was in Paris I liked for a while the rare and excellent cookery; but I soon wished I was home again and had the plain fure of my native land. So it is a fact that we soon weary of the sirups, and the custards, and the whipped foam of fanciful religionists, and we cry, "Give us plain bread made out of the old corn of the Gospel of Canaan." This is the only food that can have not got tired of bread, and that is quell the soul's hunger.

HUNGRY FOR THE GOSPEL There are men here who hardly know what is the matter with them. They have tried to get together a fortune and larger account at the bank, and to get investments yielding larger per-home, and cried, "I cannot endure it?" and stocks. There are others have we celebrate his love. Let us dash I walked up and down the decks and around about you the sweet consolation extent, and they have been trying to from our heart, and ask some of the gospel as thickly strawed as was satisfy their soul with the chopped feed other here to come in Let us the manna around about the Israelitish of magazines and sewspapers. All eay, "Go away, Jesus; I want anthese men are no more happy now than other companion, another friend, than before they made the first thousand dollars. A choking sense of but I will tell them what is the matter -they are hungry for the old corn of it extinguishes the light of sun, and the gospel. That you must have, or be wereny our prayers at night, and who is to puts out bloom of flower, and makes pinched and wan and wasted and holyou reckless as to whether you live or low eyed and shriveled up with an eternity of famine. The infidel scientists of this day are most miserable. I have known many of them, but I never knew one of miles of being happy. The great John Stuart Mill provided for himself a new kind of porridge; but yet, when he comes to die, he acknowledges that his philosophy never gave him any comfort in days of bereavement, and in a roundabout way he admits that his life was a failure. So it is with all infided scientists. They are trying to live on telescopes and crucibles and protoplasms, and they charge us with cant. not realizing that there is no such intolerable cant in all the world as this perpetual talk we are hearing about positive philosophy," and "the absolute," and "the great to be," and "the everlasting no," and "the higher unity," and "the latent potentialities," and 'the cathedral of the immensities." I have been translating what these men have been writing, and I have been translating what they have been doing, and I will tell you what it all means. It means that they want to kill God! And my only wonder is that God has not killed them. I have in other days tasted of their confections. and I come back and tell you today that there is no nutriment or life or health in anything but the bread made out of the old corn of the gospel. What do I mean by that? I mean that Christ is the bread of life, and taking him you live and live forever.

CHRIST IS READY. But you say corn is of but little practical use unless it is threshed and ground and baked. I answer, this gospel com has gone through that process. When on Calvary all the hoofs of human scorn came down on the heart of Christ. and all the flails of satanic fury beat tim long and fast, was not the corn threshed? When the mills of God's indignation against sin eaught Christ between the upper and nether rollers, was not the corn ground? When Jesus descended into hell, and the flames of the lost world wrapped him all about, was not the corn baked? Oh, yes! Christ is ready, his pardon all ready, his peace all ready, everything ready in Christ. Are you ready for him?

You say, "That is such a simple gopel!" I know it is. You say you thought religion was a strange mixture of elaborate compounds. No: it is so plain that any abecedarian may under stand it. In its simplicity is its power. If you could this morning realize that Christ died to save from sin and death and hell not only your minister and your neighbor and your father or your child, but you, it would make this hour like the judgment day for agitations, and, no longer able to keep your seat, you would leap up crying, "For me! for me!" God grant that you. my brother, may see this gospel with your own eyes, and hear with your own ears, and feel with your own heart that you are a lost soul, but that Christ comes for your extrication. Can you not take that truth and digest it, and make it a part of your immortal life? It is only bread.

You have noticed that invalids cannot take all kinds of food. The food that will do for one will not do for another. There are kinds of food which will produce, in case of invalidism, very speedy death. But you have noticed that all persons, however weak they may be, can take bread. Oh, soul sick with sin, invalid in your transgressions, I think this gospel will agree with you! I think if you cannot take anything else you can take this! Lost -found! Sunken-mised! Condemned -pardoned! Cast out-invited in! That is the old corn of the Gospel

ARE YOU TIRED OF JESUS?

You have often seen a wheel with spokes of different colors, and when the wheel was rapidly turned all the colors bleaded into a rainbow of exquisite beauty. I wish I could today take the peace, and the life, and the joy and glory of Christ, and turn them be fore your soul with such speed and such strength that you would be enchanted with the revolving splendors of that name which is above every name—the name written once with tears of exile and in blood of marter dom, but written now in burnished crown and lifted scepter and transan gelie throne.

There is another characteristic about bread, and that is, you never get tired of it. There are people here seventy years of age who find it just as appropriate for their appetite as they did when, in boyhood, their mother cut a slice of it clear around the loaf You a characteristic of the gospel. Old Christian man, are you tired of Jesus? If so, let us take his name out of our Bible, and let us with pen and ink erase that name wherever we see it. Let us cast it out of our hymnology, and let "There is a Fountain" and "Rock of centages. They are trying to satisfy Ages" go into forgetfulness. Let us

Oh. worried soul, you will wake up who have been trying to get famous, down the baptismal bowl where we were in the cabus I said, "What a pity and all your troubles, and find and have succeeded to a greater or less consecrated to him. Let us hard Jesus that this vessel should got to pieces or thou art." Could you do it? The years names favorably mentioned. They your Christian dead would charge you one side. Since then I heard that that with being an ingrate, and your little grandchildren would say, "Grandfather, don't do that. Jesus is the one to whom open heaven when we die. Grandfather, don't do that." Tired of Jesus! The Burgundy rose you pluck from the garden is not so fresh and fair and beautioffering us a different kind of soul ful. Tired of Jesus? As well get weary of the spring morning, and the voices of the mountain runnel, and the quiet of your own home, and the gladness of them who came within a thousand your own children. Josus is bread, and much prospect you will ever reach the the appetite for that is never obliterated. ASK HIS ADVICE. I notice in regard to this article of food you take it three times a day. It is on your it will be written in heaven concerning table morning, noon and night; and if some one of your size and complexion it is forgotten you may, "Where is the and age and name that he was invited bread?" Just so certainly you need Jesus three times a day. Oh, do not go out of the front door; do not dare of Canann. to go off the front steps without having first communed with him! Before noon there may be perils that will destroy body, mind and soul forever. You cannot afford to do without him. You will, during the day, be amid sharp hoofs, and swift wheels, and dangerous scaffoldings threatening the body, and traps for the soul that have taken some who are more wily than you. When they launch a ship they break against the side of it a bottle of wine. That is a sort of superstition among sailors. But oh, on the launching of every day, that we might strike against it at least one carnest prayer for divine protection! That would not be superstition; that would be Chris-Then at the apex of the day, at the morning and night, look three ways. Look backward to the forenoon: look ahead to the afternoon; look up to that Saviour who presides over all. You want bread at noon. You may find no place in which to kneel amid the cotton bales and the tiernes of rice; but if Jonah could find room to pray in the whale's belly, most certainly you will never be in such a crowded place that you cannot pray. Bread at noon! When the evening hour comes, and your head is buzzing with the day's engagements, and your whole nature is sore from the abrasion of rough life, and you see a great many duties you have neglected, then commune with Christ, asking his pardon, thanking him for his love. That would be a queer even ing repast at which there was no bread. THE GOSPEL IS PLAIN.

This is the nutriment and life of the plain gospel that I recommend you. I do not know how some of our ministers make it so intricate and elaborate and mystifying a thing. It seems as if they had a sort of mongrelism in religionpart humanitarianism, part spiritualism, part nothingarianism; and sometimes you think they are building their temnle out of the "Rock of Ages," but you find there is no rook in it at all. It is stucco. The gospel is plain. It is bread. There are no fogs hovering over this river of life. All the fogs hover over the marsh of human specii lation. If you cannot tell, when you hear a man preach, whether or not he believes in the plenary inspiration of the Scriptures, it is because he does not believe in it. If, when you hear a man preach, you cannot tell whether or not he believes that sin is inborn, it is because he does not think it is congenital. If, when you hear a man talk in pulpit up your mind whether or not he believes in regeneration, it is because he does not believe in it. If, when you hear a man speak on religious themes you cannot make up your mind whether or not he thinks the righteous and the wicked will come out at the same place, then it is because he really believes their destinies are conterm

DOUS. Do not talk to me about a man being doubtful about the doctrines of grace. He is not doubtful to me at all. Bread is bread, and I know it the moment I see it. I had a cornfield which cultured with my own hand. I did dot ask once in all the summer, "Is this corn?" I did not hunt up The Agriculturist to get a picture of com. was born in sight of a cornfield, and know all about it. When these Israelites came to Canaan and looked off upon the fields the cry was "Corn yorn!" And if a man has once tasted of this heavenly bread he knows it right away. He can tell this corn of the gospel Canaan from "the chaff which the wind driveth away." I bless God so many have found this gospel corn. It is the bread of which if a man eat he shall never hunger. I set the gladness of your soul to the tunes of "Ariel" and "Antioch." I ring the wedding bells, for Christ and your soul are married, and there is no power on earth or in hell to get out letters of di-

in Kattywar, a Hindoo doctor, Tribhowundas Shah, L. M., has during the last six years been carrying on a succession of operations in rhinoplasty, or the renewing of noses, such as probably no other medical practitioner in the world has ever had the opportunity of attempting. The state of Junagatch, where these interesting operations have been performed, is notorious for the cutting off of noses, the practice being adopted both by jealous husbands as a punishment for their wives and by several tribes, of whom the Mekranis are the worst, as a mark of vengeance on their enemies. Dr. Tribhowundas has for some years been in charge of the Centrai hospital at Junagatch, where he has carried on the duties of medical as are capable of being absorbed imofficer as well as surgeon general for the state with much ability, and in a book recently published he gives the result of 100 operations in rhinoplasty which he has successfully performed. In cutting off the pose a razor, a knife, a sickle or a sword is used, and according to the sharpness of the instrument the cut is a clean or a ragged one. The operation of rhinoplasty varies according to the nature of the wound, and its success depends very much on the quality of the original nose-that is to say, whether it was mostly bone or cartilage. A soft nose is the most easily replaced. Dr. Tribhowundas performs his operations by removing a flap of skin from the forehead or cheek of the patient and uniting this with the help of sutures to the remaining portion of the mutilated nose until the junction is complete.

The patients are put under treat ment from one to three weeks, and in most instances all traces of disfigurement appear to have been removed .-London Telegraph.

The Dullest Day of the Week.

My friend, the city editor, who is expected to keep track of everything going on in Boston and suburbs, tells me that fewer things take place on Friday than on any other week day. To prove it he showed me his assignment book and sure enough, week in and week out, there was less recorded on Friday than on any other day. He attributes this state of affairs to the bad name from which the day suffers among superstitious people, and who of us is not a little bit superstitious?

Nobody, he says, will, if it can be voided, undertake anything or day. Of course, there is never a wed ding to be reported on such a day, and seldom a feast of any kind. But not in social matters alone is it shunned. for many a business enterprise is postponed out of dread for the luckless day. Blue Monday is the next dullest day in the week. Things do not thoroughly get to going after the Sunday stop until Tuesday. Saturday would be a blank day, too, on account of its nearness to Sunday were it not for that class of institutions peculiar to Boston-the Saturday clubs.-Boston

An Estimate of Shad.

The shadow of a great calamity hangs over our Connecticut valley and the regions which have the honor of bor dering upon it. They tell us that the Connecticut river rhad, the fish that is born with twenty-five sets of bones, is approaching extinction, and that mill waste is the cause. There is a superstition that shad is a great delicacy, based, doubtless, upon the extreme difficulty with which enough of the flesh is secured at one time to tickle the palate. The fact is the departure of the whole shad family from this vale of tears and bones would leave much more time in the spring of the year for the transaction of business and the performance of the various duties which devolve upon all of us. The only real losers would be the fishermen. -- Springfield Homestead

In spinning sheds a large amount of frictional electricity is generated by the running of the spindles and of the machinery generally, and this electricity, if it be not absorbed by moisture in the air, has an injurious effect upon the thousand flys hundred, and knocked to humid atmosphere is of equal imporyarns and fibers. In weaving sheds a tance, otherwise there is a continua breaking of threads and other prejudicial occurrences. The necessary diffusion of moisture has hitherto been secured at the expense of the comfort, and even the health, of the factory hands, by the projection of steam into the atmosphere and by damper by the floors with water. In either case damage is caused to the machinery and buildings, while an unhealthy atmosphere is created, in which the operatives are obliged to work. In order to obviate all this the Installations of this inven tion have recently been put up in several Lancashire mills, one of which. belonging to the Hurst Mills company, Ashton-under-Lyne, was recently inspected by a number of mill owners and other gentlemen interested in the production of textile fabrics. In the shed inspected there were 468 looms out of the 2.100 at work in the mill. The moistening is there successfully performed by eleven aerophors, while ventilation is aided by an aerophor ventilator. The recording instruments showed the temperature to be 78 degs. Fahrenheit with 75 per cent. of moisture. Inquiries of the manager and of several of the operatives elicited but one answer, and that was one of thorough astisfaction. Mr. Osborne, one of her majesty's inspectors of factories, was present, and stated that the aerophor met the requirements of the government and was a boon to the operatives. He observed that the aerophor, or any similar apparatus efficiently effecting the same object, was greatly wanted in textile factories. - Public Opinion.

Why the Trains Wait. It has probably puzzled many a traveler, who flitting impatiently in a train has waited for the draw of a bridge to close which has been opened to allow some snaillike boat to creep up the current, why the rapidly moving train: was not given the precedence, as it could swiftly hurry away. It is not due to the excuse that the boat cannot hold itself against the stream, for it can and does do this frequently. It is simply the application of the old common law principle of easement. The boats had the use of navigable streams long before railroads were invented. and when the latter bridged rivers they did so subject to the former's interest therein, and for this reason railroad trains are today obliged to stand back while the boats pass ahead. All modern conditions would indicate that the locomotive should have precedence of the steamer, and the fact that it does not shows the tenacious grip of custom. -St. Paul Ploneer Press.

The Umbrella on the Congo A journal indulges in pleasantry be ause an umbrella maker in Brussels puts on his sign the words, "Furnisher to the Congo state." Perhaps if the journal knew more about the subject t would not think it so funny. No article sent out to the Congo state, where there are 40,000,000 of people and any number of small potentates, is so popular or sells so readily for a large um as the huge gay umbrella, of which Brussels now produces tons every year. These umbrellas are in a certain some the insignia of royally. that is they are much prized by the black kinglets who sit beneath their grateful shade. What the canopy used o be to the traveling monarchs in the time of the crusades the umbrella is to the innumerous feudal cuicftains of the Congo today. The accredited unibrella makers in Brussels are acquiring fortunes. - Boston Journal.

The leaves of the pawpaw tree are mployed by the negroes in washing inen, as a substitute for soap. They have also the property of rendering meat wrapped in them tender, owing to the alkaloid papain which they contain, and which acts as a solvent.

In the quarries and kilns a large number of unskilled workmen, thus benefiting this especial class of labor. Norris & Christian now employ sixty men in the quarries, at the kilns and crusher together. The five kilns of this firm are constantly burning and In addition to this the crushed stone business is being worked extensively, -An infant child of John A. Porter and their machine is now kept running nish 150 tons-equal to ten car-loadsof crushed stone daily to the Columbus, and surveyor, constituting the board of Hocking, Coal and Iron Co., which is equalization, were in session today to shipped to Floodwood, Ohio, and used as furnace rock. This contract is for three years, and with Mr. Evans fulfilling a similar one, some idea can be ing out of the city daily. Norris & Christian have purchased nearly two hundred acres of land from E. Conley, and now have in course of building and near completion six new kilns on the same, located just north of the Evans kilns. This tract of land promises an inexhaustible supply of limestone, and it is intended by this crease the lime trade. The new kilns are being built upon an improved order, the six being one piece of masoury space as the old ones and otherwise conveniently arranging for facilitating work. It is the expectation to barrel the products of the new kilns and open up an increased trade in that line, making shipments to distances not having been heretofore reached. The railroad ties for these shipments, and the firm can give close competition figures.

The new kilns will be completed in a short time. Fred Courts, of Bowling ill. Uncle Samuel Beerbower is well Green, Ohio, an experienced kiln builder, is in charge of the work. When these are fired and the new quarries opened a still larger force of men will necessarily be employed. The lime kilns and quarries should be appreciated as rapidly growing industries.
